Acknowledgment of the Traditional Custodians

Central Highlands Regional Council respectfully acknowledges the traditional custodians of the lands across the Central Highlands and respects the Elders, past and present, for they hold the stories about the rivers and mountains, the traditions, the cultures and hopes of Australia's First Nation Peoples.

About the Central Highlands

The Central Highlands region is in Central Queensland, Australia — considered a gateway to the outback. The region’s central business area, Emerald, is a three-hour drive from Rockhampton on the coast and nearly 900 kilometres from Brisbane.

The region is huge, approximately 60,000 square kilometres, which is likened to the size of Tasmania. It stretches from the Arcadia Valley in the south to the Peak Ranges in the north, east from Boolburra to Bogantungan in the west.

Around 29,000 people call the Central Highlands home, and they live in the 13 communities of Arcadia Valley, Bauhinia, Blackwater, Bluff, Capella, Comet, Dingo, Duaringa, Emerald, Rolleston, Sapphire Gemfields, Springsure and Tieri.

Naturally the region is rich — in minerals, grazing land, dryland and irrigated agricultural land, water from the Nogoa and Comet rivers and the Fairbairn Dam (three times the size of Sydney Harbour), in national parks and wilderness areas like Blackdown Tablelands and Carnarvon

Gorge, and in gems with the largest sapphire-producing fields in the Southern Hemisphere.

This is a vibrant region with a diverse economy based on:

- Robust and resilient agriculture and horticultural industries and significant exports, including beef, grain, cotton, grapes, melons, nuts and citrus
- A globally competitive coal mining industry
- Dynamic small to medium-size businesses
- Professional and government sectors
- Adequate availability of commercial, industrial and residential land
- An evolving tourism industry
- Major health and education services
- Significant new infrastructure and construction projects.
